Tom Smith was a writer. He wrote some stories for magazines. One evening, he could not find an end for his story. He sat with his type writer in front of him, but he had no idea. So, he decided to go to the cinema. When he came back, he found that he had a visitor. Someone had entered his apartment. The man drank a cup of coffee, smoked several of Tom's cigarettes and had read his story. The visitor left Tom a note:

"I have read your story and I don't think much of it. Please, read my suggestions and then you can finish it. Anyway, I am a thief. I am not going to steal anything tonight. But if you became a successful writer, I would return." Tom read the suggestions. Then, he sat down and wrote the rest of the story.

He still is not a successful writer, and he is waiting for him to return. Before he goes out in the evenings, he always leaves a half finished story near his type writer.
